Architecture, design and interior architecture are the core sectors of activity. Housing projects, town or vacation residences, hotels, business premises, office buildings, interior decorating, restorations and renovations as well as special projects such as the projection of archeological sites and furniture/object design are undertaken.
Elements like natural light, water, natural materials, climate, which create emotions, and the relations of volume, constitute the architectural planning suggested by the firm. Complete studies are offered which lead to the realization of projects that meet the highest standards as far as energy and construction are concerned.
All the above, combined with constant briefing concerning the latest international development in architecture and research of new materials and applications, help the architectural creation to be in high and up to date standards.
